Good day,

For many months I've been trying to have the proper authorities investigate the abuse of my father Robert Silver.

I have spoken with NYC adult protection services and your office. In both instances my complaints have been ignored.

I know my father is being drugged. We have found evidence and yet the evidence doesn't seem to raise any concerns.

Here's a recent instance of abuse, actually this occurred last weekend. My father's sister send $300 in order to have his aide arrive one hour earlier for the next few weeks. When the checked arrived his companion, Eileen Kanfer demanded he return the money. My father did what he was told and sent the money back. She prevented a gift from a sister to a brother to pay for essential healthcare.

Isn't preventing proper care to a 90 year old man a crime?

This is one of many instances of abusive behavior. Unless something is done to end this abuse, I will be forced to take action. I'm not going to standby and watch my father be abused.
